

Trauma Resource Institute

Group Project Proposal

Group 3: Daniel Robles, Jennyfer Aguirre, Lucynda Young & Matthew Melger

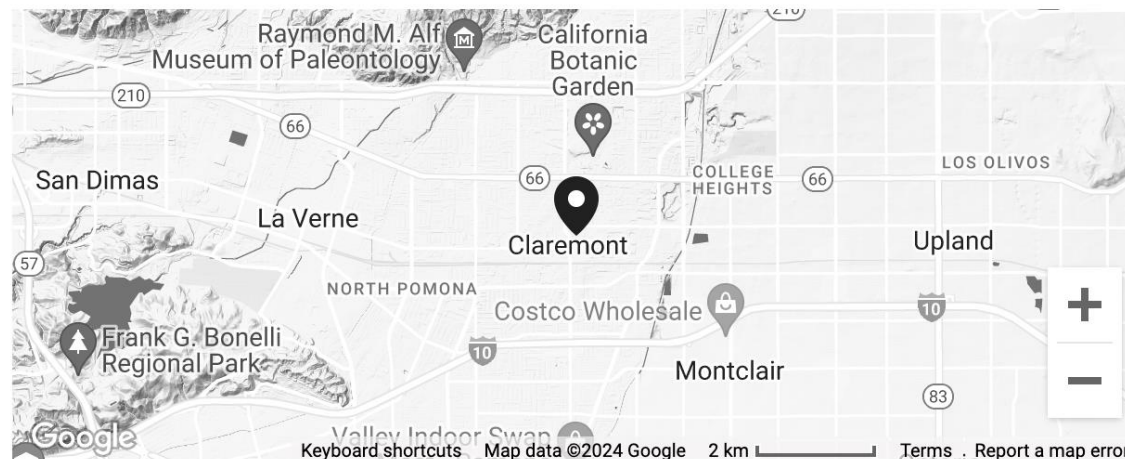

➤History & Mission

The Trauma Resource Institute (TRI) is a non-profit organization that empowers global communities by promoting healing and resiliency through trauma education. Their mission is rooted in neuroscience and body wisdom, fostering change by training individuals in accessible, affordable, and adaptable practices. They believe every person has natural resilience, and trauma recovery should be gentle, effective, and culturally sensitive. TRI emphasizes making trauma education and treatment available, building community strength by empowering local leaders, and reducing reliance on external experts.

➤Location

427 N. Yale Ave., #202
Claremont, CA 91711

Business Objectives

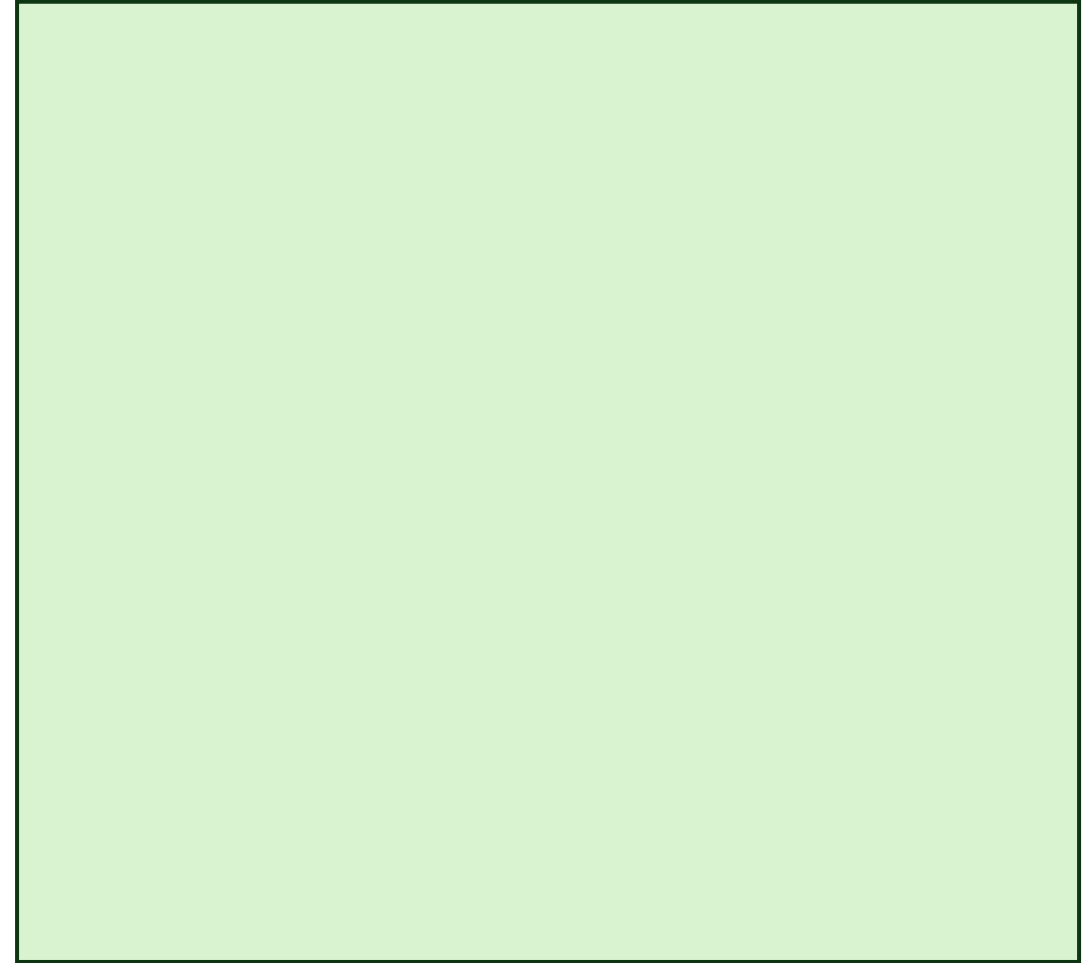

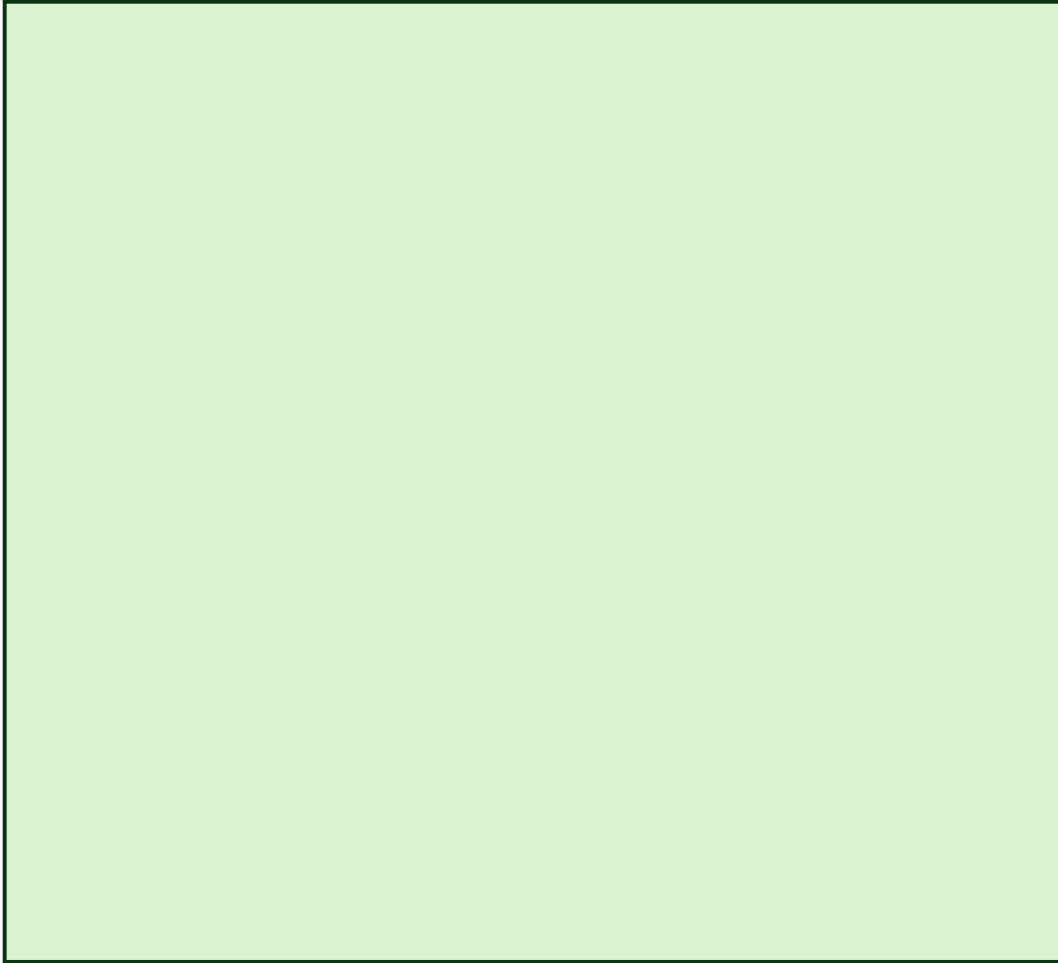

- Generate sign-ups for their certification classes
- Educate people and communities about the two models and functionality
- Destigmatize asking for help and teaching others how to become better and stronger individuals

Project Objectives

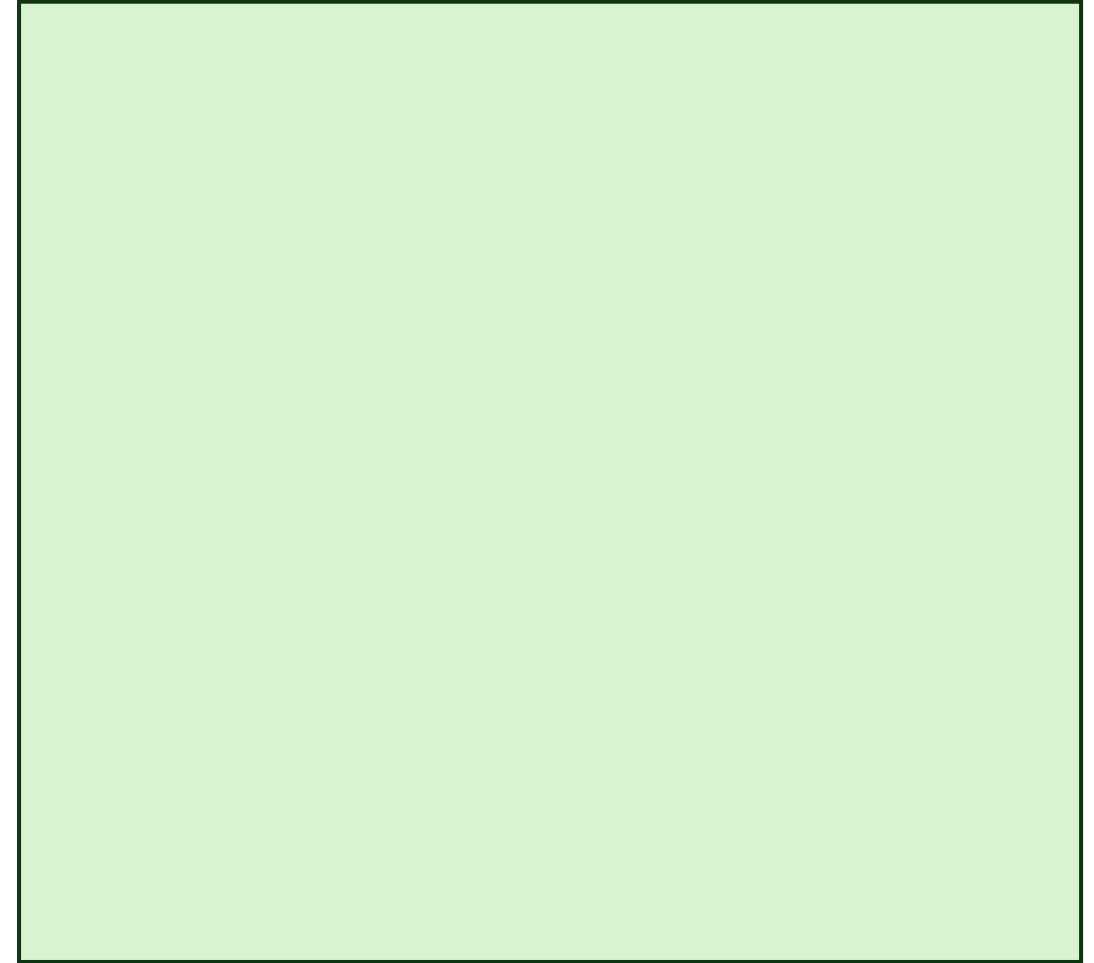

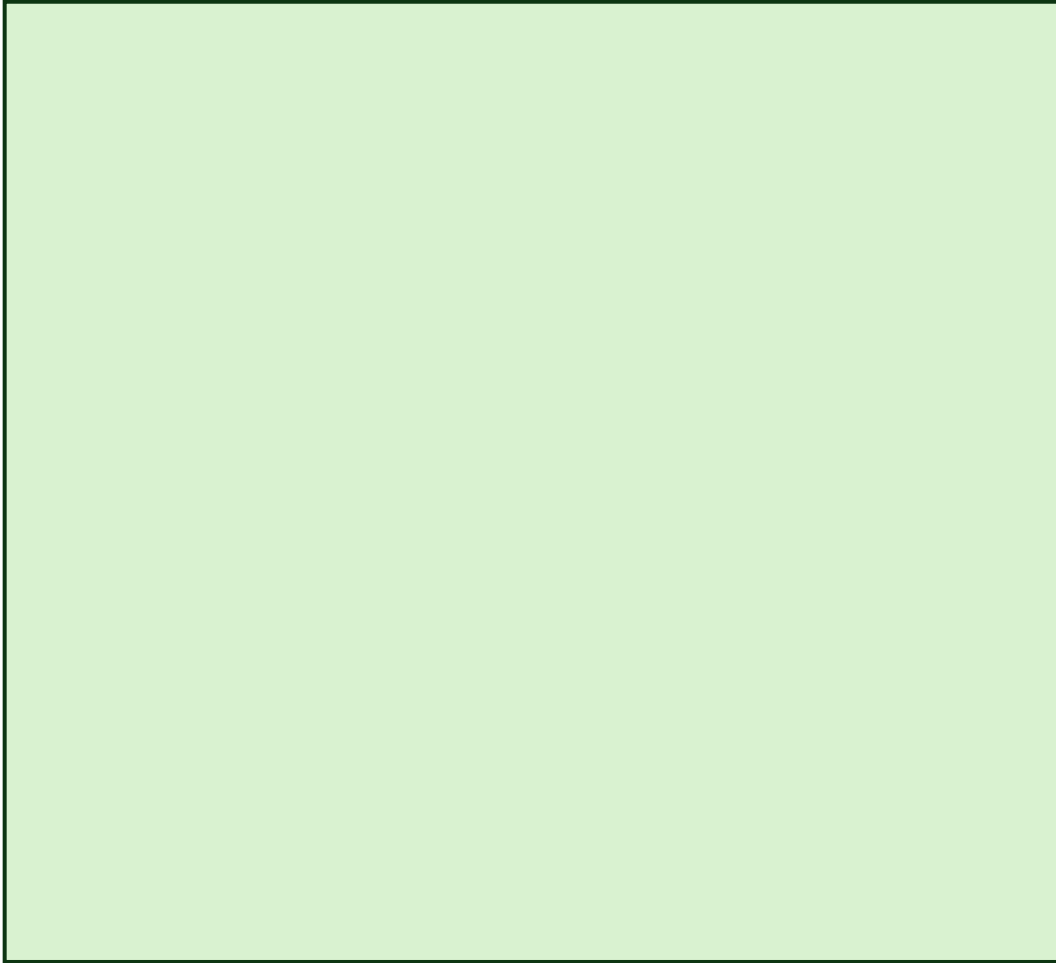

- Project Objective 1
- Project Objective 2
- Project Objective 3

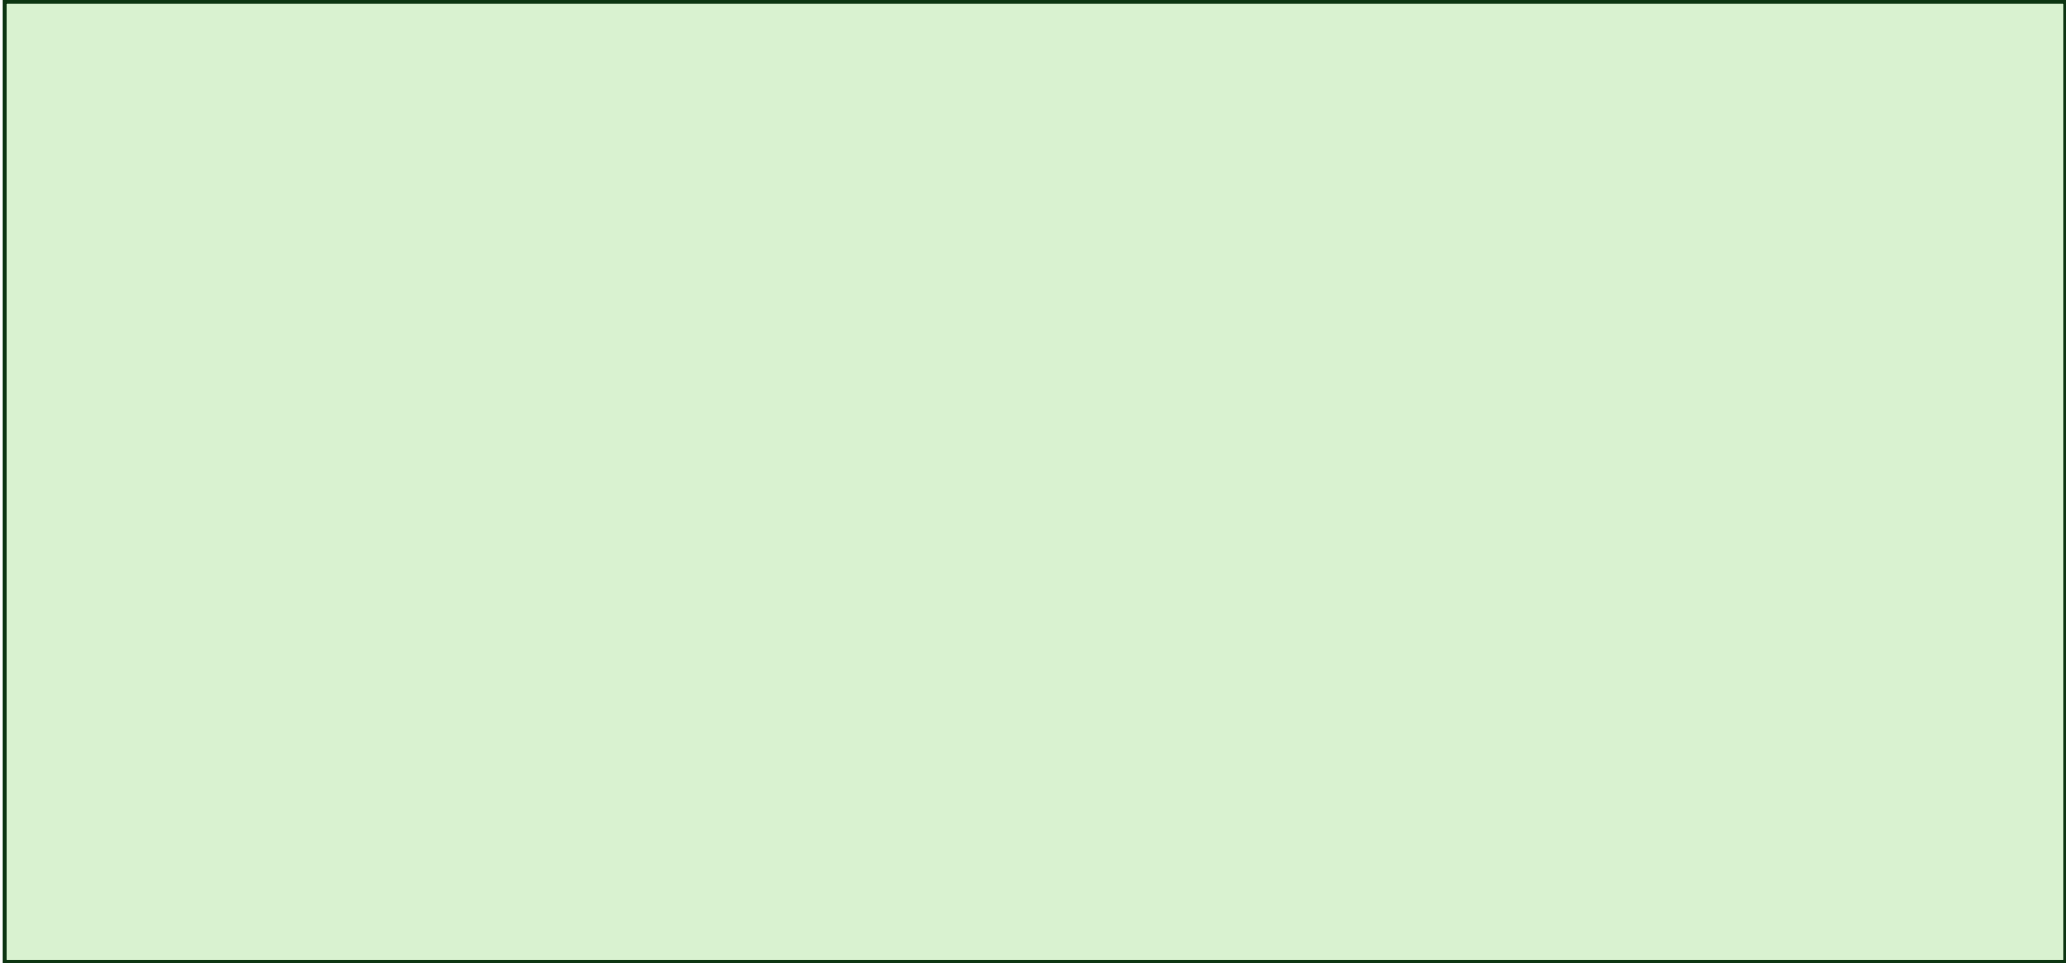

Methods to be used to achieve project objectives

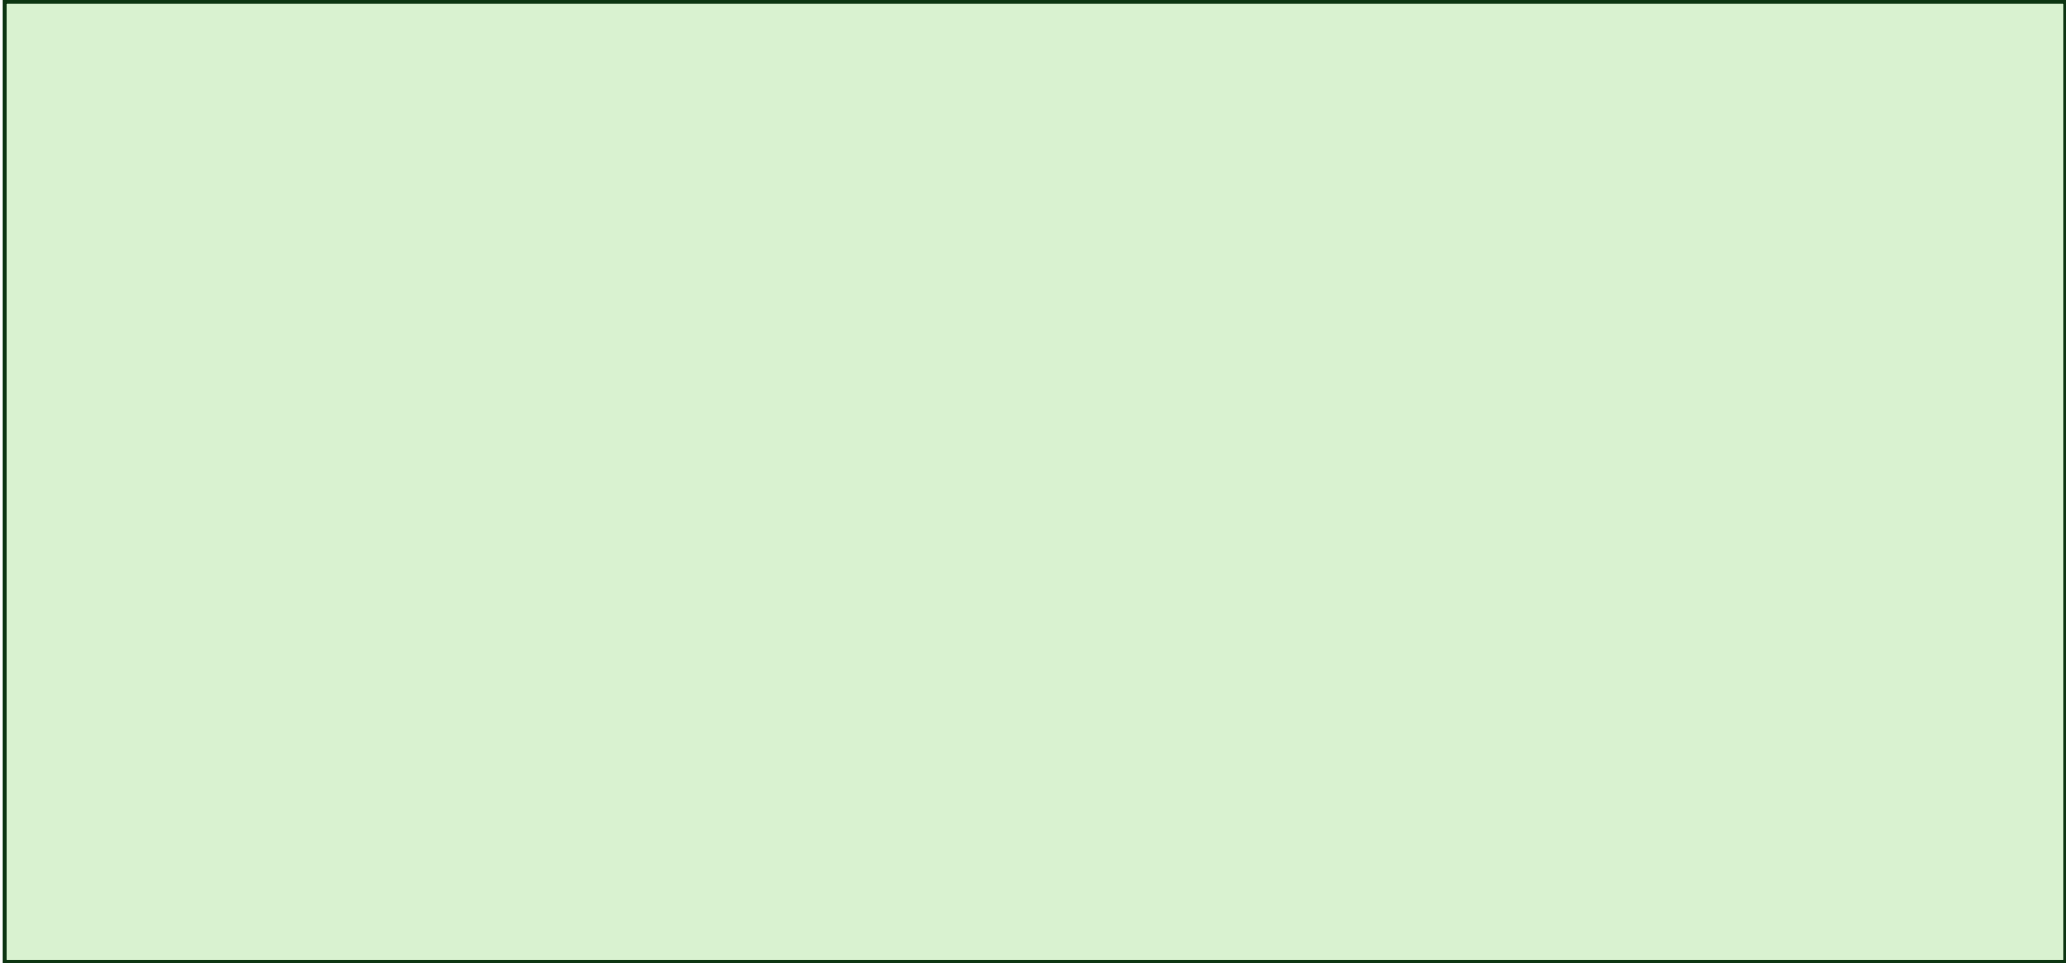

Methods to be used to achieve project objectives

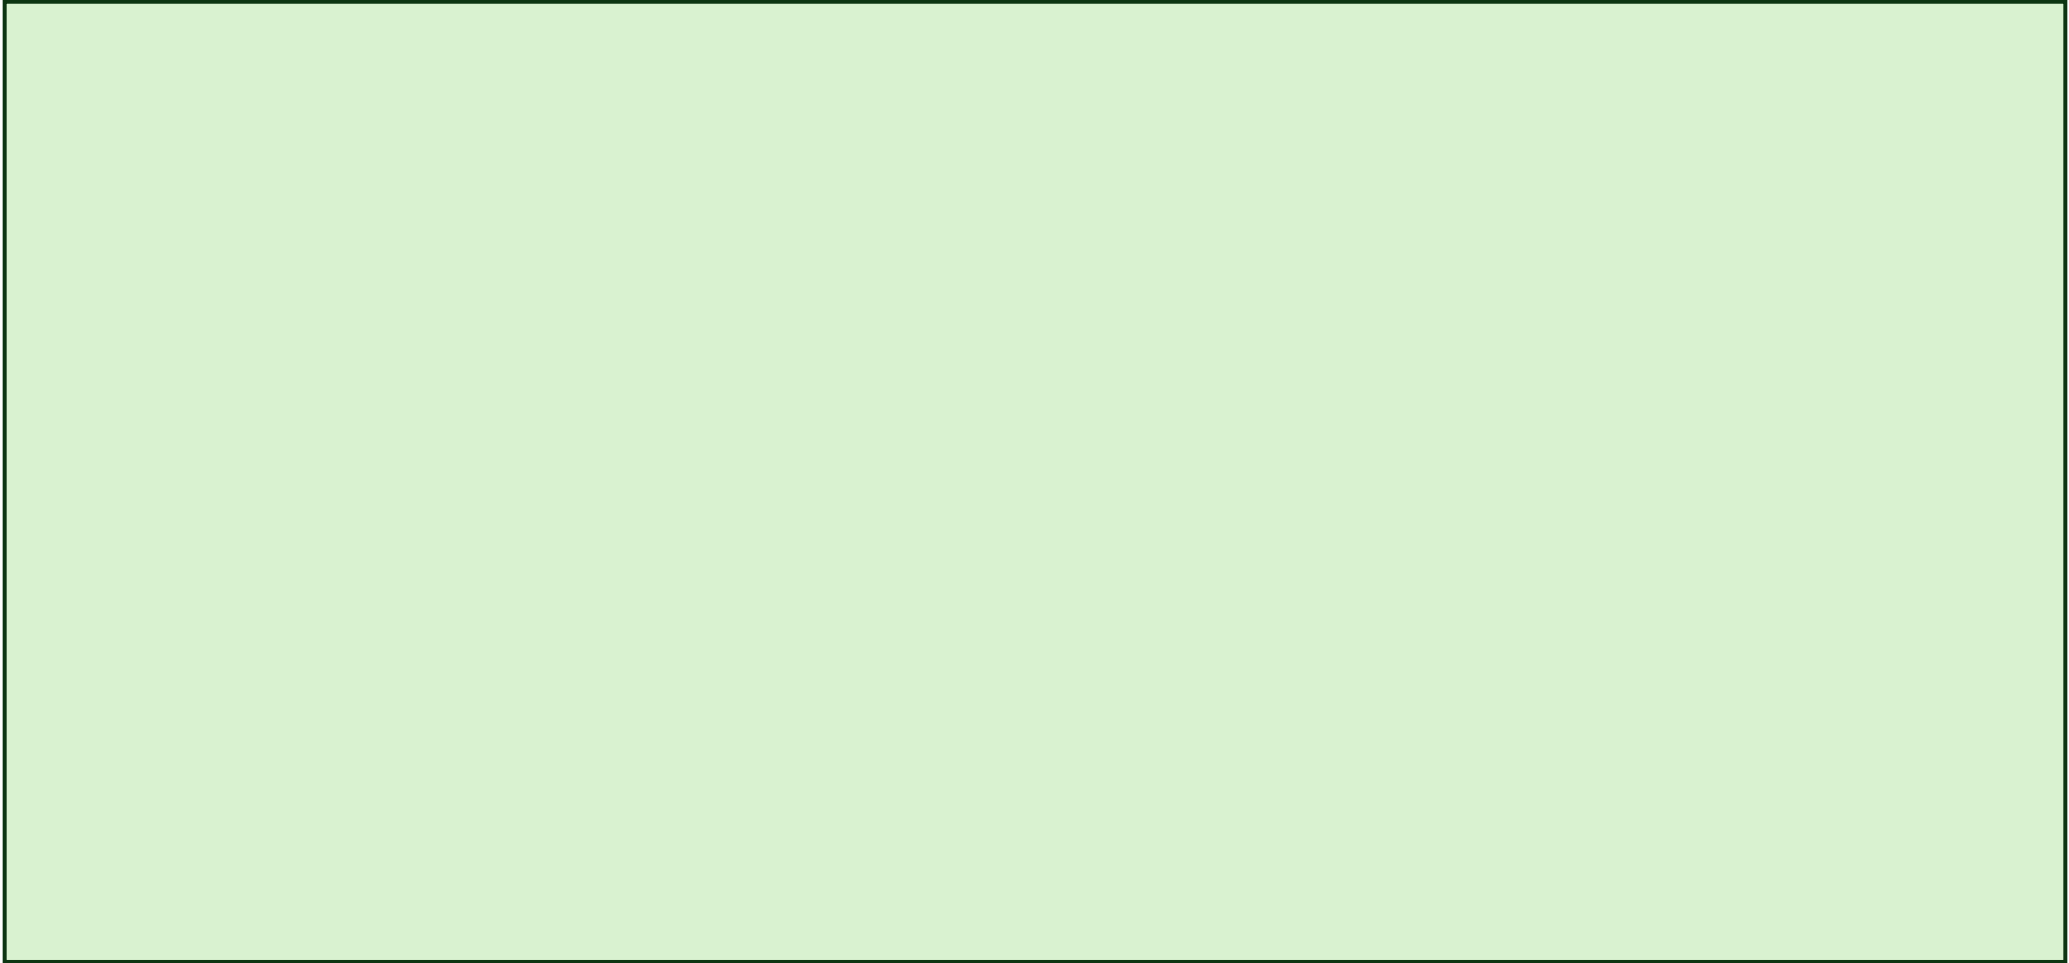

A Mockup Deliverable

A Mockup Deliverable

Timeline and Deliverable

Thank You

